Gender equality indicator 2: Gender composition of governing bodies

Gender composition of governing bodies is an indicator of gender equality at the highest level of organisational leadership and decision-making. This gender equality indicator seeks information on the representation of women and men on governing bodies. The term "governing body" in relation to a relevant employer is broad and depends on the nature of your organisation. It can mean the board of directors, trustees, committee of management, council or other governing authority of the employer.

2. The organisation(s) you are reporting on will have a governing body. In the Act, governing body is defined as "the board of directors, trustees, committee of management, council or other governing authority of the employer". This question relates to the highest governing body for your Australian entity, even if it is located overseas.

2.1 Please answer the following questions relating to each governing body covered in this report.

Note: If this report covers more than one organisation, the questions below will be repeated for each organisation before proceeding to question 2.2.

If your organisation's governing body is the same as your parent entity's, you will need to add your organisation's name BUT the numerical details of your parent entity's governing body.

2.1a.1 Organisation name?

Alcoa of Australia Limited

2.1b.1 How many Chairs on this governing body?

☒ Do not have control over governing body/board appointments (provide details why):

The composition of Alcoa of Australia Limited's board is controlled by Alcoa of Australia's two ultimate shareholders, Alcoa Corporation and Alumina Limited. Alcoa Corporation appoints three members to the Board and Alumina Limited two. The appointments by Alcoa Corporation are typically position based (e.g., the Managing Director and Chief Financial Officer of Alcoa of Australia) and we have a strategy in place to ensure our succession pipeline into these positions has strong gender equity representation. For example, there are currently women in the succession plan for the Chief Financial Officer. We also note that the board of Alcoa of Australia Retirement Plan Pty Ltd (AARP) consists of 6 directors, 3 employer-sponsored and 3 member elect. Of the 3 employer-sponsored directors Alcoa of Australia Limited has appointed 2 women (being the last two employer sponsored appointments (2012 and 2015). The vast majority of employees are members of the AARP.
