5. ACCEPTING AN AWARD

The Terms and Conditions set out the key details of your Restricted Share Unit Award. To accept your Award, you must execute the Terms and Conditions pursuant to the instructions contained therein.

6. WHAT IS A RESTRICTED SHARE UNIT?

A Restricted Share Unit represents the right to receive one share of common stock, in accordance with Section 9 of the Plan, upon fulfillment of the vesting conditions set out in the Terms and Conditions. When your Restricted Share Units vest, you will be issued Shares at no monetary cost (other than applicable taxes, as discussed below). The Restricted Share Units are considered “restricted” because they will be subject to forfeiture and restrictions on transfer until they vest, as set forth in the Terms and Conditions.

7. WHAT IS A SHARE OF COMMON STOCK IN THE COMPANY?

Shares of common stock of a United States (“U.S.”) corporation is analogous to ordinary shares of an Australian corporation. Each holder of a Share is entitled to one vote for every Share held in the Company.

The Shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) in the U.S. and are traded under the symbol “AA.”

The Shares are not liable to any further calls for payment of capital or for other assessment by the Company and have no sinking fund provisions, pre-emptive rights, conversion rights or redemption provisions.

8. WHAT ARE THE MATERIAL TERMS OF THE RESTRICTED SHARE UNITS?

(a) Do I have to pay any money to receive the Restricted Share Unit Award?

You pay no monetary consideration to receive the Restricted Share Unit Award, nor do you pay anything to receive the Shares upon vesting.

(b) How many Shares will I receive upon vesting of my Restricted Share Units?

The details of your Restricted Share Unit Award are set out in the Terms and Conditions.

(c) When do I become a shareholder?

You are not a shareholder merely as a result of holding Restricted Share Units, and the Restricted Share Units will not entitle you to vote or receive dividends, notices of meeting, proxy statements and other materials provided to shareholders, until the restrictions lapse and the Restricted Share Units vest and are paid out in Shares. In this regard, you are not recorded as the owner of the Shares prior to vesting. You should refer to the Terms and Conditions for details of the consequences of a change in the nature of your employment or service.

(d) Can I transfer the Restricted Share Units to someone else?

The Restricted Share Units are non-transferable until they vest, however once Shares are issued upon vesting, the Shares will be freely tradeable (subject to Company policies and applicable laws regarding insider trading).

10. HOW IS THE AUSTRALIAN DOLLAR EQUIVALENT CALCULATED?

You may ascertain the current or historical market price of the Shares as traded on the NYSE at www.nyse.com under the symbol "AA." The Australian dollar equivalent ("AUD") of that price can be obtained at: www.rba.gov.au/statistics/frequency/exchange-rates.html.

11. WHAT ADDITIONAL RISK FACTORS APPLY TO AUSTRALIAN EMPLOYEES' PARTICIPATION IN THE PLAN?

You should have regard to risk factors relevant to investment in securities generally and, in particular, to the holding of Shares. For example, the price at which the Shares are quoted on the NYSE may increase or decrease due to a number of factors. There is no guarantee that the price of the Shares will increase. Factors which may affect the price of Shares include fluctuations in the domestic and international market for listed stocks, general economic conditions, including interest rates, inflation rates, commodity and oil prices, changes to government fiscal, monetary or regulatory policies, legislation or regulation, the nature of the markets in which the Company operates and general operational and business risks.

More information about potential factors that could affect the Company's business and financial results is included in the Company's most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K and Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, available upon request. In addition, you should be aware that the AUD value of the Shares you may acquire at vesting will be affected by the USD/AUD exchange rate. Participation in the Plan involves certain risks related to fluctuations in this rate of exchange.

12. PLAN MODIFICATION, TERMINATION ETC.

The Board may amend, alter, suspend, discontinue or terminate the Plan at any time. No such amendment, alteration, suspension or discontinuation of the Plan shall materially impair your rights with respect to Restricted Share Units already granted, except with your written consent.

13. WHAT ARE THE AUSTRALIAN TAXATION CONSEQUENCES OF PARTICIPATION IN THE PLAN?

The following is a summary of the income tax consequences for an Australian resident employee who receives Restricted Share Units under the Plan as of May 2016. You also may be subject to Medicare Levy (including any applicable surcharge) and possibly a Temporary Budget Repair levy. This summary is general in nature and does not purport to be tax advice specifically applicable to you.

If you are a citizen or resident of another country for local law purposes, transfer employment and/or residency to another country after the Restricted Share Units are granted, or are considered a tax resident of another country, the information contained in this summary may not be applicable to you. You are advised to seek appropriate professional advice as to how the tax or other laws in your country apply to your specific situation.

If you accept Restricted Share Units under the Plan, then you should not rely on the summary as anything other than a broad guide and you are strongly advised to obtain independent tax advice specific to your particular circumstances.

(a) What is the effect of the grant of the Restricted Share Units?

The Australian tax legislation contains specific rules, in Division 83A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, governing the taxation of shares and rights (called "ESS interests") acquired by employees under employee share schemes. The Restricted Share Units issued under the Plan should be regarded as a beneficial interest in a right to acquire Shares and accordingly, an ESS interest for these purposes.

Your assessable income includes the discount given in relation to the acquisition of the ESS interest at grant, unless the ESS interest is subject to a real risk of forfeiture in which case you will be subject to deferred taxation.

In the case of the Restricted Share Units, the real risk of forfeiture test requires that:

(i) there be a real risk that, under the conditions of the Plan, you will forfeit the Restricted Share Units or lose them (other than by disposing of them or the Restricted Share Units vesting); or

(ii) there be a real risk that, under the conditions of the Plan, if your Restricted Share Units vest that you will forfeit the underlying Shares, or lose them other than by disposing of them.

The terms of your Restricted Share Unit grant are set out in the Terms and Conditions. It is understood that your Restricted Share Units will satisfy the real risk of forfeiture test and accordingly, you will be subject to deferred taxation (i.e., you generally should not be subject to tax when Restricted Share Units are granted to you). However, whether or not there is a real risk of forfeiture may depend on your individual circumstances. Accordingly, you should seek your own advice in relation to your individual circumstances.

(b) When will you be taxed if your Restricted Share Units are subject to a real risk of forfeiture?

You will be required to include an amount in your assessable income for the income year in which the earliest of the following events occurs in relation to the Restricted Share Units (the "ESS deferred taxing point"). In addition to income taxes, this amount also will be subject to Medicare Levy (including any applicable surcharge) and possibly a Temporary Budget Repair levy¹.

Your ESS deferred taxing point will be the earliest of the following:

(i) where there are both no longer any genuine restrictions either on the disposal of the Restricted Share Units and there is no real risk of your forfeiting the Restricted Share Units;

(ii) when the Restricted Share Units are settled in Shares and there is no real risk of you forfeiting the Shares and there is no genuine restriction on the disposal of the resulting Shares (if such restrictions exist, the taxing point is delayed until they lift)

(iii) the date you cease to be employed by any company in the Company group (to the extent you retain the Restricted Share Units) (but see Section 9(e) below); or

(iv) 15 years from when the Restricted Share Units were granted.

Generally, this means that you will be subject to tax when your Restricted Share Units vest and Shares are issued to you. However, the ESS deferred taxing point for your Restricted Share Units will be moved to the time you sell the underlying Shares if you sell the underlying Shares within 30 days of the original ESS deferred taxing point. In other words, the income must be reported by you in the income year in which the sale occurs and not when the ESS deferred taxing point occurs if you sell the underlying Shares in an arm's length transaction within 30 days of the ESS deferred taxing point.

(c) What is the amount to be included in your assessable income if an ESS deferred taxing point occurs?

¹ From July 1, 2014 through June 30, 2017, an additional 2% Temporary Budget Repair Levy will be imposed on taxable income over AUD180,000.

The amount you must include in your assessable income in the income year (i.e., the financial year ending 30 June) in which the ESS deferred taxing point occurs in relation to your Restricted Share Units will be the difference between the "market value" of the underlying Shares at the ESS deferred taxing point and the cost base of the Restricted Share Units (which should be nil because you do not have to pay anything to acquire the Restricted Share Units or the underlying Shares).

If, however, you sell the underlying Shares in an arm's length transaction within 30 days of the ESS deferred taxing point, the amount to be included in your assessable income in the income year in which the sale occurs will be equal to the difference between the sale proceeds and the cost base of the Restricted Share Units (which should be nil).

You will be subject to income taxes at your marginal tax rate on the assessable amount with respect to your Restricted Share Units. In addition, the assessable amount will be subject to Medicare Levy (including any applicable surcharge) and possibly a Temporary Budget Repair levy.

(d) What is the market value of the underlying Shares?

The "market value" of the underlying Shares at the ESS deferred taxing point is determined according to the ordinary meaning of "market value", expressed in Australian currency. The Company will determine the market value in accordance with guidelines prepared by the Australian Taxation Office ("ATO").

As noted in (h) below, your employer will give you a statement containing certain information about the Restricted Share Units, including an estimate of the market value of the underlying Shares at the ESS deferred taxing point (except if the original ESS deferred taxing point is moved to the sale of the Shares, as explained above in (b)). This may assist you in determining the market value of the Shares.

(e) What happens if I cease employment before my Restricted Share Units vest?

If you cease employment prior to the vesting date of some or all of your Restricted Share Units and the Restricted Share Units do not vest upon termination of employment (i.e., they are forfeited), you may be treated as having never acquired the forfeited Restricted Share Units in which case, no amount will be included in your assessable income.

(f) Sale of Shares

If you acquire Shares upon vesting, you may be subject to additional taxation at the time you sell such Shares.

If you sell your Shares acquired upon vesting of your Restricted Share Units within 30 days of the original ESS deferred taxing point, your ESS deferred taxing point will be shifted to the date of sale for purposes of determining the amount of assessable income (as described above) and you will not be subject to capital gains taxation.

If you sell your Shares acquired upon vesting of your Restricted Share Units more than 30 days after the original ESS deferred taxing point, you will be subject to capital gains taxation to the extent that the sale proceeds exceed your cost base in the Shares sold, assuming that the sale of Shares occurs in an arm's-length transaction (as generally will be the case provided the Shares are sold through a recognized stock exchange (i.e., the NYSE)). Your cost base in the Shares generally will be equal to the market value of the Shares at the ESS deferred taxing point (which generally will be the vesting date) plus any incremental costs you incur in connection with the sale (e.g., brokers fees).

The amount of any capital gain you realize must be included in your assessable income for the year in which the Shares are sold. However, if you hold the Shares for at least one year prior to selling (excluding the dates you acquired and sold the Shares), you may be able to apply a discount to the amount of capital gain that you are required to include in your assessable income. If this discount is available, you may calculate the amount of capital gain to be included in your assessable income by first subtracting all available capital losses from your capital gains and then multiplying each capital gain by the discount percentage of 50%. Please note that if you cease Australian residency in the holding period, you may not qualify for the full discount.

You are responsible for reporting any income you realize from the sale of Shares acquired upon vesting of Restricted Share Units and paying any applicable taxes due on such income.

If your sale proceeds are lower than your cost base in the Shares sold (assuming the sale occurred in an arm's-length transaction), you will realize a capital loss. Capital losses may be used to offset capital gains realized in the current tax year or in any subsequent tax year, but may not be used to offset other types of income (e.g., salary or wage income).

(g) Dividends

Prior to the vesting of your Restricted Share Units, you will not be eligible to receive any dividends. If you vest in the Restricted Share Units and become a Company shareholder, you may be entitled to receive dividends paid on the Shares obtained from vesting in the Restricted Share Units, if the Board of Directors, in its discretion, declares a dividend. Any dividends paid on Shares will be subject to income tax in Australia in the income year they are paid. The dividends are also subject to U.S. federal withholding tax. You may be entitled to a foreign income tax offset, whereby the U.S. federal withholding tax is offset against the Australian tax payable on the dividend.

(h) Withholding and Reporting

You will be responsible for reporting on your tax return and paying any tax liability in relation to the Restricted Share Units and any Shares issued to you at vesting. It is also your responsibility to report and pay any tax liability on any dividends received.

Your employer will be required to withhold tax due on the Restricted Share Units only if you have not provided your Tax File Number ("TFN") or Australian Business Number ("ABN") (as applicable) to your employer.

However, your employer will provide you (no later than 14 July after the end of the year) and the Commissioner of Taxation (no later than 14 August after the end of the year) with a statement containing certain information about your participation in the Plan in the income year when the ESS deferred taxing point occurs (typically the year of vesting) (including an estimate of the market value of the underlying Shares). Please note, however, that, if you sell the Shares within 30 days of the ESS deferred taxing point, your taxing point will not be at the ESS deferred taxing point, but will be the date of sale; as such, the amount reported by your employer may differ from your actual taxable amount (which would be based on the sale proceeds). You will be responsible for determining this amount and calculating your tax accordingly.

14. WHAT ARE THE U.S. TAXATION CONSEQUENCES OF PARTICIPATION IN THE PLAN?

Employees who are not U.S. citizens or permanent residents will not be subject to U.S. tax by reason only of the grant and vesting of the Restricted Share Units or the sale of Shares, except with respect to any dividends paid by the Company. However, liability for U.S. taxes may accrue if an employee is otherwise subject to U.S. taxes.

The above is an indication only of the likely U.S. taxation consequences for Australian resident employees awarded Restricted Share Units under the Plan. You should seek your own advice as to the U.S. taxation consequences of Plan participation.
